As Gompers day, July 3, at 2 p. m., Platte county entitled to cannot reach Chicago before Wednesday night, it will be impossible to decide on a line of action to be pursued before Thursday and probably if it should finally be resolved to declare a general strike of all these combined forces, it could not be put into effect before Fri- no event will the organizations comprisday morning

Flocks Forever Disappear. If wool be put on the free list, the American woolgrower will have to submit to the disadvantages of raising wool in this climate on even terms with his foreign rivals, who do not have such difficulties to contend with, and so without adequate protection must necessarily be driven out of the business. Our seventh largest agricultural industry, producing annually $66,000,000 worth ing to work in accordance with the fedof wool and representing an investment of $100,000,000 in sheep, will be destroyed by free trade.

Sheep will be fattened and will then be sent to market as food, and flocks will disappear forever. Our food supply will in time thus be decreased, and our manufacturers eventually will be driven to buy their wool in London or in Australia. Gold will be thus sent out of the country again, increasing the harmful influences that must follow with the balance of trade permanently against us.

The woolgrowers will be forced into some other industry. They will proba-C of the Eighth United States infantry is bly plow up their present sheep pastures when the land is suitable and raise wheat, of which we already have an overproduction and a surplus, and the probabilities are that in consequence of the great increase in our surplus of wheat in a short time we will have only 40 cent wheat. It is to the interest of American farmers to diversify their industries and to produce such articles as will find a market at home instead of abroad. The farmer who can sell direct to the consumer close to his home saves the middleman's profits and the cost of transportation, which otherwise always lessen the net price to him when he has to find a market abroad.
